BACH B MINOR MASS

A Workshop for Singers with Ralph Allwood and David Goode in the Music Hall of Exeter School, Manston Terrace, Exeter EX2 4NS
Saturday 30th October, 2010, 10am – 5pm

Some consider the B minor mass to be the greatest piece of music ever written. Yet its production was not straightforward, taking at least thirty years. Ralph Allwood (Director of Music at Eton and Eton Choral Courses Director) with David Goode (Head of Keyboard at Eton and international organist) will lead the day, tracing the sources of the piece, while all will join in singing the choruses. Any full-time students wishing to attend will be warmly welcomed. Ralph has previously directed a very successful workshop on Purcell Anthems, and the 2009 Dillington Weekend for SWEMF for which he was highly praised.

The old Novello edition will be used: music will be provided, but please indicate on the form below if you are able to bring your own copy. All editions are compatible.

Coffee, tea and biscuits will be available, but you are advised to bring a packed lunch as there are no pubs nearby. The Music School is a single storey white building, with ample parking.

The cost of the day will be £15 for SWEMF & other forum members, £17 for non-members & free to full-time students.

Please send completed Application Form to Heather Gibbard, 81 Church Lane, Backwell, Bristol BS48 3JL, (tel. 01275 463012, email heathergibbard@hotmail.co.uk), by 30 September.
